

Notice Any Government-Corporate Frauds Lately ?

“In times of universal deceit, telling the Truth is an act of rebellion.” ~ George Orwell

We live in the end times of universal deceit, and determining WHO is telling the Truth is key to deciding WHAT is the Truth. In the last five years I have written over 100 major web post articles on frauds in science and history that are in conflict with the rout training for today’s youth. I have avoided first person narrative as boring and personal anecdotes as irrelevant. In a lifetime of intense science and history study, I have avoided reading others autobiographies as I consider them largely inaccurate and self-serving. This article is first person narrative, autobiographical and anecdotal, only because I cannot explain WHY I differ from the official meme, without explaining WHAT, in my life experience, supports these Truths.

Engineering is a series of progressively difficult Physics classes, beginning with Statics, which is the study of mechanics and stationary forces, followed by Dynamics, which is forces in motion. A key concept in Dynamics is Inertial Reference Frame, as forces will appear different dependent on the location of the observer. So to with social dynamics, your opinion is shaped by your experience and your perspective. It is the job of ‘social engineers’ to shape your opinion without you noticing, for the benefit of their masters.

It is very easy to dismiss those who’s opinions, or even facts, are not the ‘norm’ as conspiracy nuts. We are conditioned to group think from an early age. The origins of my skeptic views began in college science and soon extended to the ‘accepted’ social structure. My grandfather was a successful retailer, importer, real estate developer and Director of the Brownsville Housing Authority. He was a Norman Rockwell, patriotic American who got a first-hand education in our fictional reality, and gave me my first big ‘not normal’ clue.

Driving east thru Port Isabel on State Highway 100 you cross the causeway over Laguna Madre to Padre Island. In the middle of this bridge there is an odd curve to the south, with an equally odd history. My grandfather was co-owner of the tract where this bridge lands on the island. He and his partner owned a five acre tract and were waiting for the rumored bridge to replace the floating swing bridge, which would double the land value. Unexplained delays forced them to sell early for $600,000 to an unnamed syndicate. Almost immediately Texas Highway Department announced purchase of the middle three acres of this tract for $1.2 million dollars, but the new curve would raise costs by a million dollars, force a six month delay for redesign and the syndicate kept an acre of island frontage on both sides of the bridge.

The Brownsville Herald did an investigation and found that the syndicate was in fact six individuals, which included two US Senators from Texas, two Governors of Texas and two other high ranking officials. Since the senators and governors included one Democrat and one Republican, there was no ‘political party’ reason to investigate. A San Antonio paper ran with the story, but it was soon dropped.

In the eighties I worked as junior engineer for several developers on office parks, mid-rise condominiums and motels. In the 1984 election, one developer took out a full page, nation-wide Wall Street Journal add in support of Reagan/Bush and donated one million to the re-election campaign. In their office there were framed copies of the private inauguration dinner invitation and glossy photos of the developer and his wife as one of the twelve lucky couples at the White House that night. Following the election, the local economy stalled and I began consulting with local architects on out of state projects.

In my travels to dozens of cities, I often thought of civil engineering projects that would improve my hometown of Houston. In September of 1989 I presented a series of projects to city council and got a three minute segment on the evening news with our local NBC affiliate, video of this is posted at my website. I was invited as guest speaker to a wide range of events, including Future Day at St John Devine private academy, where I presented my design for a 200 MPG gas-electric hybrid auto, also posted at my website.

I started contacting elected officials, including my US Congressman Bill Archer, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. I met with Rep Archer on Texas Independence Day, March 2, 1990 for a scheduled 15 minute meeting at 11:00 am. We covered the full range of my civil engineering projects for Houston and my hybrid auto design, which I insisted must be developed.

Olson: "If we build this auto, we will reduce deaths by 20,000 per year and make America a net petroleum exporter."

Archer: "And if we do not build that auto?"

Olson: "Mr Congressman, if we do not build this auto then in twenty years General Motors will be bankrupt and 50% of the US Treasury will be overseas."

Archer: "Oh my God, it's 12:30 and I have a luncheon speech, I'm late, will miss the rubber chicken dinner, but you are an incredible individual, in my whole life I've only met one or two people like you." [19 years later GM went under]

I did not contact or hear from the congressman for five years, but got an invitation to a town hall meeting and appeared unannounced. Bill took one glance at me in the receiving line and said "Joe, How are you doing?" I said "Fine, Bill, why didn't you contact me about any of my projects". He said, "Well, I'm busy doing the people's business". Inside the town hall meeting there were pointed questions about the congressman's support for $1.2 billion in unneeded sports stadiums and a new proposed 7 mile, billion dollar light rail. His reply was "He was doing the people's business". The best analogy of this two hour meeting was the governor in the musical, Best Little Whore House in Texas, singing "I Can Do the Side Step". I went on to have private meetings with US Reps or future US Reps, Tom Delay, Jack Fields, Kevin Brady, Sheila Jackson Lee, Gene Green and Craig Washington....all nit wits or puppets.

My next encounter of the corruption kind involved a one hour private meeting with recently fired Chairman of METRO, Bob Lanier. The mayor, Kathy Whitmire had recently disclosed that she was named “mayor for life by the power elite” and was pushing her 14 mile, billion-dollar, Disney monorail amusement park ride. When I asked the future Houston mayor why the current mayor wanted a no-bid project, in violation of the state competitive bidding law, I got this reply:

Lanier: [the owner of a large construction company, whom he named] said...
“If I don’t have to bid against anybody, then I can hide $200 million in Excess profits in this project and we’ll all get rich off of it.”

When I asked why Bob didn’t go along with the scam, he said “He’d already made enough money, he didn’t need to make any more that way”. Yes, Bob had just gotten his portion of $140 million paid out to the bankrupt University Savings by the Resolution Trust Company, which we will revisit shortly. The Disney monorail has had at least seven fatalities, is listed by the DOT as an amusement park ride, never crash tested, never evacuation tested and when submitted to Honolulu was rejected as “Not worthy of consideration”. It failed in a referendum, setting the stage for a later fraud.

One of my proposals involved a billion dollar 27 mile high speed rail connecting both airports, seven university campuses, downtown and the world’s largest medical center, details at my website. My rail went thru two minority communities, the monorail connected only business centers, so I approached the minority media. I was scheduled for an interview with Michael Harris on KCOH radio. Prior to the on-air interview, Mike was dejected, when I asked why, he said:

Harris: “Yesterday Anthony Hall (newly appointed black Chairman of METRO) held
A meeting for all of Houston’s black reporters and said:”

Hall: “I need to make this rail thing happen and here’s what you’re gonna do, you’re gonna write what I tell you to write about rail, you’re only gonna ask me the questions I give you to ask me about rail, and you’re not gonna mention anybody else’s rail plan...if you don’t do that, you will not get any advertising or printing money out of the city of Houston, or out of METRO”.

I jumped out of my chair and said....”Mike, that’s what we’ve got to fight against!”
Standing outside the door was station manager and radio legend Skipper Lee who said:

Lee: “Who’s we Olson ? Let me tell you something, I promised you an hour of time on my radio station and I’m gonna give it to you, but you come in here and make these people mad at me, they can seriously hurt me....AND THEY WILL”.

No good deed goes unpunished and civic activism exposed a marital defect that landed me in divorce court. One day there was a gentleman with a card table set up selling copies of his book The Mafia, CIA and George Bush. I thumbed thru the index, OH MY GOD ! There were a dozen developers that I had worked for and over fifty projects that I had personal knowledge of. I bought a copy from author Pete Brewton, and can verify that every project that I was involved with is accurately described. The previously mentioned developer with the 1984 GOP donation had introduced me to the concepts of “other people’s money” and “creative bankruptcy” years before. These were intentional frauds that went completely unpunished. My review of this great investigative analysis is at Amazon.com.

All of my adult life I have been aware of the Orwellian false paradigm of normal Norman Rockwell America and the fraudulent, destructive reality of the powerful, evil elite. I have zero interest in sports, or mass entertainment. I read for a hobby and assimilate a thousand pages of real history or real science every month, for all of my adult life. I am past the point of hookers and Ferraris, fortune and fame. I care only about Truth and freedom. While there is still, a pretense of freedom, you are free to believe who and what you want to believe. When the Orwellian elites complete their nightmare, you will believe what you are told to believe. This is only a tiny portion of the supporting evidence for my reference frame...but I can safely state that our government LIES to us about everything. These people can seriously hurt you, and they will, regardless of your tin foil hat or not. For more on the science and history lies, visit FauxScienceSlayer.com.

Happy INDEPENDENCE Day !
